

ST. MARK'S
SCHOOL OF TEXAS

February 17, 2009

To Whom It May Concern:

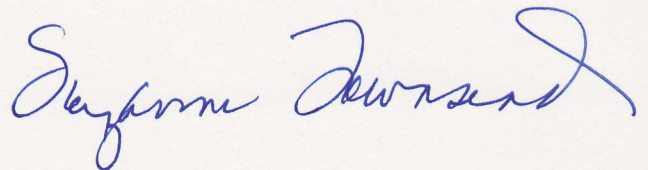

St. Mark's School of Texas occupied two newly-constructed buildings this past summer, concluding a project that encompassed several years of planning and design. Prior to beginning the construction, the Architecture and Construction Committee comprised of St. Mark's trustees, solicited proposals for multiple project management firms. After narrowing the search and conducting personal interviews with the prospective firms, the Committee unanimously voted to award the work to The Projects Group. I believe that decision had great impact on the success of our building project.

Our buildings were completed on time and under budget. The professionals from The Projects Group held weekly meetings with me, our architects of record, General Contractor and representatives from the various trades working on our project. We experienced record rainfall during our project, at the worst possible stages of construction. The Projects Group worked with our General Contractor to devise methods of making up time, while advising us about decisions to value engineer our project. Their suggestions never compromised the quality of our new buildings, but rather allowed us to do more than we originally planned with the savings we enjoyed.

I can recommend The Projects Group without any hesitation for your construction management services. I enjoyed working with Alra Reeves, Vicki Dickerson, and Matt Snellgrove, and I felt a real sense of collaboration and collegiality in their approach to our project. The Projects Group is committed to excellence – both in their service and in the final product.

Please do not hesitate to call me if you would like to know more about our very positive experience.

Very truly yours,
